TRAINING TIPS with PHIL HAUGEN

CONFIDENCE

This one word is one of the determining factors of whether you and your horse are successful or not. I had a customer in here this weekend that has a really nice barrel horse but was having a few challenges that she wanted to work on. In this particular case, like in most cases, it simply came down to the rider asking for a response from her horse in a way her horse understood. Once she figured out HOW to ask for that response you could just see the confidence in her face and her body just bloom and grow, she immediately started to relax and that was a result of her confidence growing as well. When you start feeling good about your horse you also start feeling good about yourself and then that communication gap between you and your horse starts to disappear. If we lack trust and respect from our horses there is no way they will have confidence in us or vice versa. When you develop trust and respect with your horse you also gain confidence. When you have confidence in your horse they will have confidence in you. If you are in a frustrated state of mind there is a 100% chance that your horse is in a frustrated state of mind. It's not a lack of communication, it's a lack of understanding between horse and rider and what responses are being asked. This applies to all disciplines. Our horses are a reflection of what we know, and how well we communicate with them and help them understand what we are asking. It's just that simple. You need to be able to ask for a response and get the same response every time from your horse. That's what's called a foundation. When a horse understands what is being asked of them they start to develop confidence in the rider/trainer. Always remember that we are constantly training our horse's minds to think and help them understand what responses we are asking for. Correct repetitions create good habits. Hope this helps! Have a great month of Training and God Bless!

I NOD MY HEAD

The Final Show

Bright lights pollute the black sky of the desert. My heart races in my chest. It's a feat even making it here, but it's another thing to prove yourself against the legends that come here every year.

I've practiced and worked harder than I ever have before in my life. My horses have never felt better. Everything is as prepared as it can be. The only determining factor between success or failure is taking the pressure.

It's all in my head. I force positive thoughts through my mind as I ride into the alley of the Thomas and Mack. Veterans of the sport chat and laugh with the people around them, but all I can see is the bright light at the end of the tunnel. All I can hear is the crowd of millions that will soon be watching me.

My mare tenses as we creep closer to the arena. I place my hand on her to steady her but more to thank her for this. As I was focusing on my horse, somehow I made it to the arena. The man running the gate glances my way. My heart does a little flip-flop. He calls my name...

I nod my head.

THROUGH MY EYES

CODY CUSTER -

Talent Alone Equals Failure...

When it comes to the sport of rodeo, any event talent is only a small portion of the equation. Structure, discipline and a strong work ethic are necessary for great success no matter how much talent one has. You have no say in the amount of natural talent you have but the other three are totally your choice.

I've seen several very talented guys come along with one or more of the other three ingredients missing and they may have had some success but they definitely left some things on the table. On the other hand, I've seen some with very little talent but the other three ingredients were very strong in them and they went on to be successful.

Take a good look and be real honest with yourself about your structure, your discipline, and your work ethic. I hope you choose the necessary ingredients toward your career. No one can do it for you. It is all on you.

GOD BLESS

Cody Custer

A true LEADER

by Ddee Haynes

WILLIAMS FAMILY - KADE, KACEE, JANA & JACEE

What is a true leader and what qualifications should a person possess to be considered a true leader? When I googled the definition of a leader this is what I found. The person who leads or commands a group, organization, or country. Synonyms: chief · head · principal · boss · commander · captain · figurehead · controller. While all of those words are correct, I am sure each one of us have our own version of a leader and the qualifications we feel are needed in order to be considered a leader. If you will kindly allow me to, I would like to share my version of what I would consider a "True Leader".

To me, a true leader is a person who leads by example, leads without force, leads without knowing and strives to make others, not just him/herself, successful. Now, think about those words for a minute and picture a spunky gal with a can-do attitude, bright sparkling eyes and a smile that lights up any room she walks into. You have just met my friend Jana Williams.

Jana started her journey in life as the first-born child of Raymond and Janice Campbell and big sister to Nick and Jimmie. Jana and her two younger brothers grew up horse back in Bristow, OK, inheriting the roots of a rodeo family. So, it was no surprise that Jana fell in love with the sport of rodeo. In addition to that love, Jana also had the natural ability and work ethic needed to be successful in the rodeo world.

Lead on my friend and thank you for mak- ing the world a better place!

During her high school years Jana competed in barrel racing, pole bending, break-away roping and goat tying. Jana competed in junior rodeos, the Oklahoma High School Rodeo Association (OHSRA) and then went on to become a member of the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Rodeo (SWOSU) team located in Weatherford, OK. During her high school rodeo career Jana qualified for the National High School Rodeo Finals all four years of high school and was also the Goat Tying Champion at the International Finals Youth Rodeo (IFYR), held each year in Shawnee, OK.

In college Jana continued her rodeo career at SWOSU qualifying two times for the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Finals. It was during her college days at Southwestern where Jana began following her passion of teaching, which she pursued both in the classroom and in the arena, where she gave roping and goat tying lessons to several future state, national and IFYR champions who lived in communities near the university. Jana also began dating the love of her life KaCee Williams, a calf roper who had spent many Saturday nights roping at the weekly jackpots held at her family's indoor arena before transferring to SWOSU. After a few years of dating and rodeoing together, KaCee and Jana married on May 22, 1999.

Fast forward to October 2019. Jana and KaCee have two children, Kade a Sophomore and Jacee a 6th grader. KaCee works as a Walgreens compounding pharmacist and Jana is an Elementary School Principal for the Broken Arrow Public Schools. As a principal Jana is once again charging ahead, leading her staff to pursue excellence by continually promoting what is best for the kids.

Jana is constantly going above and beyond not only for the teachers she works alongside, but for the students as well. In an effort to promote positive character traits, such as honesty and integrity. Each month Jana's school picks a student for each class, who best displays that month's character trait. This year, Jana kicked the contest up a notch by entering those kids into a drawing. The lucky winners get a "publishers clearing house" style surprise visit from the principal at their home complete with a small prize packet, balloons, etc. They video it and show the video at the awards assembly for that month.

Jana also changed up the teacher of the year celebration this year. Instead of the stale, teacher of the year breakfast, Jana videoed as she and the last year's TOY (teacher of the year) burst into the classroom of this year's winning complete with the teacher's family in tow and made the announcement in front of the entire class. The winning teacher was then escorted down the hall as teachers, students and staff all cheered her on, very much like a personal parade.

On the first day of school this year, Jana was not inside her office, instead she was outside greeting each and every child as they entered the school premises. We all know the first day of school can be scary, especially for the younger children, so I am sure, Jana's big smile and warm-welcoming personality was a much-welcomed greeting for the students and parents.

Jana's leadership and encouragement of others is not limited to her professional life. Jana is a constant behind the scenes mom who spends time helping not only her children to be successful in the sport of rodeo, but any of the many rodeo contestants who are competing alongside side her own children. I have witnessed too many times to count, Jana help up and coming rodeo kids (my daughter included) with words of encouragement, advice and even heading to the practice pen to work out whatever they may be needing to improve upon.

When I decided to use Jana for my article I knew if I asked her, she would refuse. So, like any good friend, I went behind her back and asked KaCee. I asked KaCee to verify a few details and provide some pictures. In addition to everything I asked for, KaCee provided so much more. KaCee told me that Jana spends half her nights looking up motivational videos, sayings, quotes, etc., Jana then sends those out each morning to her staff in an effort to help her staff keep their spirits up in a tough environment.

To quote KaCee in one of our many secret conversations; "tonight, Jana got home late because she has partnered with Walmart to provide a few families in her school with a hand me up shopping trip to help with hard times. Jana lives to pick up others. I could go on and on. I often find myself feeling jealous, because she is the only person that I have ever met who is 100% doing exactly what God has called them to do. It is a beautiful thing to watch and makes me want to do better every day." Well said KaCee!

Jana does what she does because that is who she is. Jana is a great example of a true Christian, she leads by example, leads without force, wants others to succeed and loves with all her heart. Jana is one in a million and I for one feel blessed to be able to call her my friend.

Lead on my friend and thank you for making the world a better place!

Until Next Time.....

Jana at the IFYR & with a student on the first day of school.

By: Sierra Rae Lewis

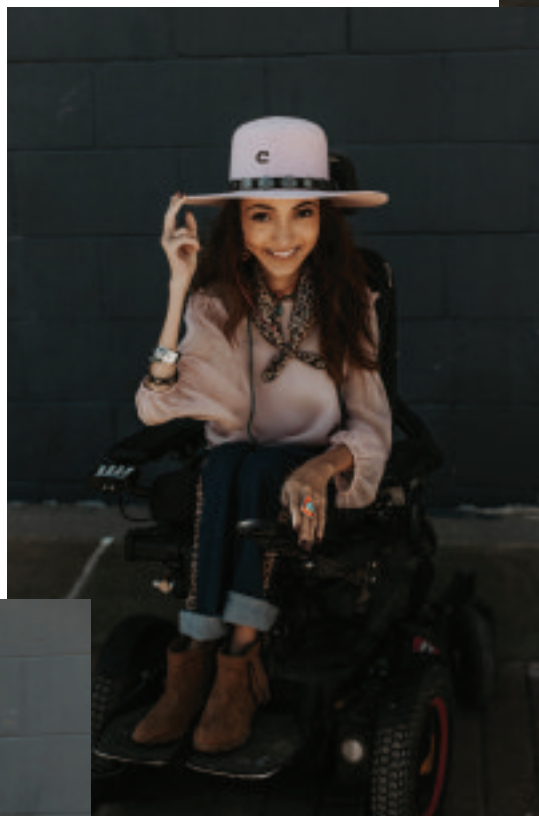

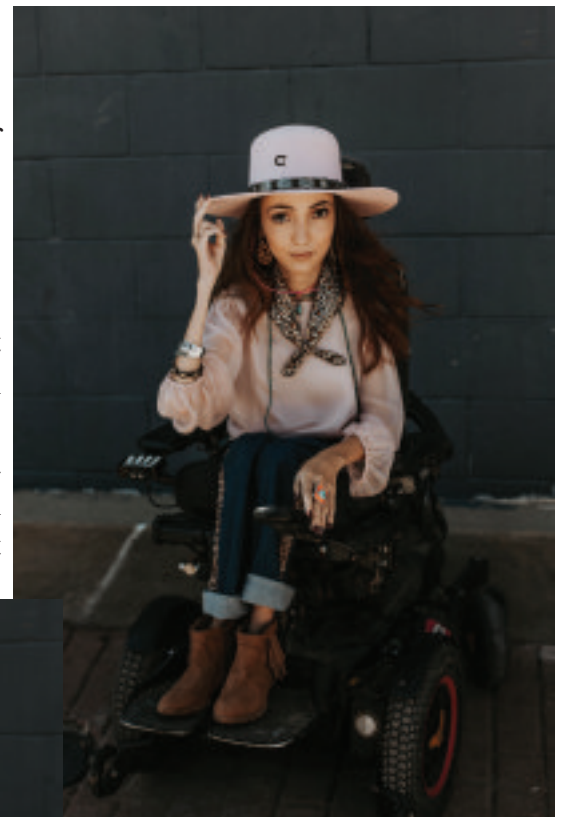

pretty in pink

It is that time of year again Cowboy Times readers....I am sure all you have seen since October, is NFR talk. Well this article is going to be about the NFR, but I promise to make it new and fresh and exciting because GUESS what...we are talking new Charlie 1 Horse hats that are not even hitting the hat racks this year at Cowboy Christmas! The new collection is full of baby blue, lavender and soft pink felts. Charlie 1 Horses head designer Kaci Riggs-Myers says the collection was inspired by the sunsets of Santa Fe. Rightly named the "Desert Collection" each hat also carries it's own distinct name to match it's style, like the "Saguaro" featured in my pictures here.

I am a pink girl to the core so as soon as I had my eyes on previews of this new collection she called my name, reminding me of the sunsets in Arizona I was raised by. The "Saguaro" comes in two color options, with her leather and concho hatband embellished with a thunderbird pin. You have the choice of pink like mine or baby blue. (thunderbird pin included with hat, not pictured here) There are a few other styles coming out I can't tell you too much about until they show up in Viva Las Vegas, but I'll give you some hints!

The "Sidewinder" is playing off one of the most popular Charlie 1 Horse styles in a sunset color with it's own desert twist...a snakeskin band! In just the nick of time too because snakeskin is THE print of the year! The tumbleweed is something an old outlaw might wear...classic western, with a girly and colorful twist and a hat pin of it's own! The "Sedona Rose" is for all the fashion girls out there with a statement leather band. Last but not least the "Prickly Pear" is soft and sweet with a new style of hatband that gives me some #vintagevibes! Now that's all I have to say for now! I am a tight lipped Charlie's angels until NFR time.

Check out the whole collection at the Resistol booth this year at Cowboy Christmas! RUN don't waste your time walking! I expect sell outs before the final round of the Rodeo comes!
